Nikola Tesla, the inventor of the radio and one of the most brilliant electrical engineers the world has ever known, knew he was on to something huge with a phenomenon he witnessed in his New York City laboratory in the late 1800's. It was something of such enormous significance, he became obsessed with it, and spent the remainder of his life inventing, demonstrating, and devoting all of his talent to. According to many sources, Tesla actually started to exhibit pronounced symptoms of obsessive-compulsive disorder in the years following this amazing discovery. He apparently "became obsessed with the number three; he often felt compelled to walk around a block three times before entering a building and demanded a stack of three folded cloth napkins beside his plate at every meal." 1 Something of eternal significance had been revealed to Nikola Tesla, but without knowing the Trinity of God and God's word, the truth of his powerful discovery eluded him. According to many sources, the story of his discovery ended in him having to take a sledge hammer to his invention. Apparently, he had inadvertently created a small earthquake that shook the neighboring buildings to his New York City lab, and nearly took down his entire building! Police came barreling into his lab just in time to see him destroy the miniature vibrating device that had created all of the damage. This device was small enough to fit in a coat pocket, yet when tuned to specific vibration frequencies, it would cause other objects that were naturally oscillating at that frequency to vibrate as well. It was a device powerful enough to create an earthquake throughout all of Manhattan with nothing more than the resonant energy of its vibrations. This incredible discovery led Tesla to create numerous other experiments in mechanical and electrical versions of resonance. In his lab he became known for creating enormous artificial lightning storms that astounded his visitors. Although he may not have been the first to discover resonance, he was able to prove that the Earth is a conductor and he discovered that the resonant frequency of the Earth was approximately 8 hertz. 2 During his life it was rumored that he had become overwhelmed with the powerful importance of what he had been studying, but neither he, nor anyone else, knew exactly why it was so important; until now. Over a hundred years later, God has finally revealed to us that this phenomenon Tesla recognized called "resonance" is actually an extremely significant part of His design to change the world as we know it. More powerful than any manmade example Tesla could have dreamed of, God's presence in the realm of our physical world in all three forms of His Trinity at once will be the event that Tesla subconsciously knew would take place, and will be the most incredible demonstration of resonance ever. "The FOG, The Face of God" bridges the gap between science and scripture, leaving its readers astounded yet fully satisfied knowing what really matters in life, and exactly what lies ahead.
