The General Assembly of Kentucky, at the session of 1853-4, adopted resolutions directing the Governor to cause the remains of General Charles Scott, Major William T. Barry, and Captain Bland Ballard and Wife to be re-interred in the grounds belonging to the State in the Cemetery at Frankfort. All the necessary arrangements having been made. His Excellency, Governor Powell, appointed Wednesday, November 8th, 1854, as the day for the ceremonies of re-interment. The proceedings of that occasion were described as follows in the Commonwealth of November 10th: Wednesday, the 8th of November, 1854, was a great day in Frankfort, and one not soon to be forgotten. The last and distinguished honors provided by Kentucky for three men who had served her cause, in the council and in the field, and whose lives had contributed to the glory of her history, were paid with befitting circumstance, in the presence of an immense crowd of Kentucky sons and daughters. Strangers began to arrive on Tuesday, and on Wednesday morning every avenue leading to our little city poured in a living stream. The public square, streets, side-walks, hotels, and private houses were soon swarming with the crowd.
